Date:

Tell me what you're doing now.

When did you first start to think about missionary service?

What draws you to it?

Why with the Salesians?

What kind of work do you envision yourself doing, or what kind of work would you like to do?

Tell me a little bit about your faith journey. (i.e. how did you get to where you are now, how do you connect with God in your daily life, etc.)

There are a lot of ways you could serve God in your life. Why this way? Why now?

Tell me about your family.

How do they feel about your interest in becoming a lay missionary?

Our lay missionaries live in community. Community life means a lot of things – shared prayer, support, family structure, etc. – but it also means compromise, living by someone else’s schedule and rules, giving up independence, etc. What do you think of that (as an entire package)?

How do you feel about living simply, and giving up a lot of the things we take for granted here?

What are some hopes/expectations/goals you have for this kind of experience? (What would you like to say afterwards that you were able to achieve/learn/contribute/do, etc.)
